DETAILED ACTION

1. After-final remarks filed November 7, 2006 have been entered and fully considered. Claims 20-24 are currently pending. The rejections are as stated below.

Response to Amendment

2. Applicant's request for reconsideration of the finality of the rejection of the last Office action is persuasive and, therefore, the finality of that action is withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

Art Unit: 3691

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

5. Claims 20-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rautila, U.S. Patent No. 6,549,625, in view of Kagan, U.S. Patent No. 7,158,753

Claims 20-22, 24, Rautila discloses a system and method for connecting a mobile terminal to a database, comprising obtaining over a broadcast RF communication information necessary for the subscriber unit to automatically communicate with a brokering agent (column 2 lines 43-44, 53-61), selecting a particular wireless service provider based on offerings of the wireless services, and using the communication information to communicate to the brokering agent the identity of the particular wireless service (column 2 line 53 – column 3 line 4), establishing a subscription relationship with the particular service provider that has been brokered by the brokering agent (column 7 lines 41-50), and configuring the subscriber unit to operate in a mode that supports interaction with the particular service provider (column 4 lines 35-54 and column 9 line 56 – column 10 line 8).

While Rautila teaches broadcasting communication information over RF, Rautila does not specifically teach obtaining the communication information over a broadcast RF subcarrier of a commercial FM broadcast station.

Art Unit: 3691

Kagan discloses a system and method for a wireless communications system, comprising obtaining over a broadcast RF subcarrier of a commercial FM broadcast station communication information necessary for the subscriber unit to automatically communicate with a brokering agent (page 12, paragraph 1). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the Applicant's invention to modify the teachings of Rautila to include the broadcast over RF subcarrier of a commercial FM broadcast station because the FM broadcast would allow for a wider distribution of the signal which advertises the available services. It is noted that while Rautila recites that the RF signal is low-power and/or short range, it is specifically recited that the broadcast is not limited to such (column 3 lines 16-17), and the resulting combination of Rautila and Kagan would enhance scalability of the system.

Claim 23, Rautila teaches communicating criteria from the subscriber unit to the brokering agent using the communication information, selecting one or more wireless services meeting the criteria, wherein the selecting is performed by the brokering agent, and communicating the wireless services meeting the criteria from the agent to the subscriber unit.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

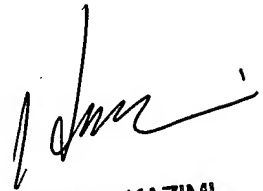

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
